Do we have enough to pay?

If the question is, 'Do we have enough to pay?' would you round up to the nearest dollar or round down to the nearest dollar? Is one approach better than the other?

$3.60

Photo by Tommaso Urli on Unsplash

$3.60

$3.00 $3.60 $4.00

If the question is, 'Do we have enough to pay?'

would you round up or round down?

What would you round this to?

$4.50

$4.50

Photo by Vera De on Unsplash
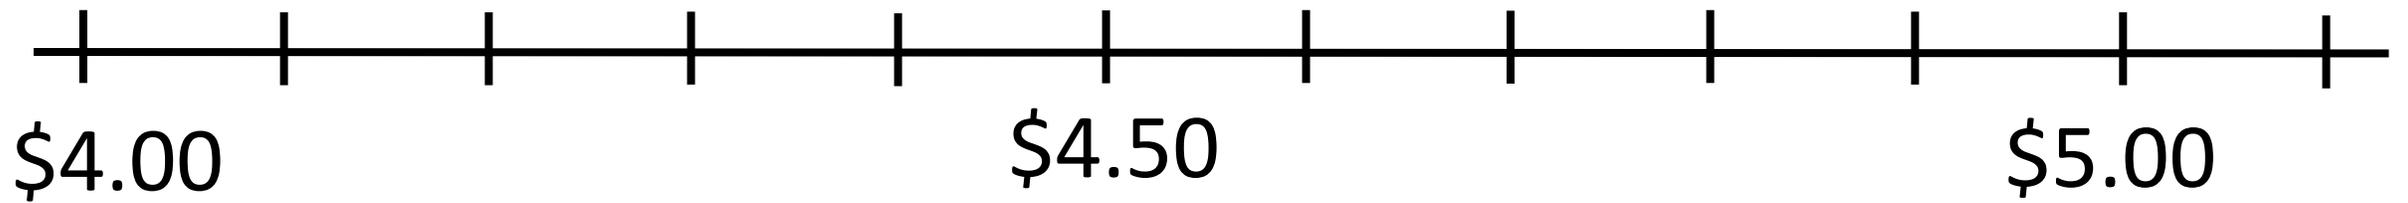

$4.00 $4.50 $5.00

If the question is, 'Do we have enough to pay?'

would you round up or round down?

What would you round this to?

$5.30

$5.30

Photo by Court on Unsplash

$5.00 $6.00

		Rounded down	Rounded up
	$3.60	$3.00	$4.00
	$4.50	$4.00	$5.00
	$5.30	$5.00	$6.00

If the question is, 'Do we have enough to pay?' is it better to round up or round down to the nearest dollar? Explain your reasoning.